I am always amazed by how so many aspects of life come full circle. Through my involvement with Saint Martin over the past 12 years, I have seen it over and over again first-hand. Whether it is seeing our alums all over Cleveland transforming our workforce, or their return to campus to mentor our current students, it is truly special to see how our kids have used their Saint Martin education to serve the greater good in our region.

A shining example of this is 2008 graduate Gary Martin. In 2004, as part of Saint Martin’s first class, Gary was taking a chance on this brand new Cristo Rey Network school in the forgotten St. Clair-Superior neighborhood. Upon graduating with Saint Martin’s initial group, Gary left his final words in the 2008 class yearbook:

“I, Gary Martin, leave you the last thing I ever wrote as a student and I must end it on a ‘poetic’ note so my words can be remembered. It’s hard not to choke over my verbs because over the past 4 years, our actions have all been together. We ate, we cried, we laughed. Our school days and work days consumed us and unified us as years went by. The memories of those who left our class have been the topic of discussion for some time now. No offense to them but they missed out on what we were able to grow into, what we strived for and achieved. Our goals in life may still be similar but their goals are not rooted in a tradition and a legacy we now control. Only we, as the class of ’08, can start to determine what colleges and the rest of the world think of the education we received here. We are a core of strong men and women with strong minds and as we leave I ask that we not forget Saint Martin’s but that we pass the word about all it has.

Gary, a graduate of Fairfield University in Connecticut, and now a Senior Business Development Analyst at Lincoln Electric, has lived true to those words since the day he left our community as a student. He has stayed connected as one of our strongest ambassadors. Gary mentors current students, has emceed our Birthday Bash, and now is the first ever alumnus to be selected to the school’s Board of Directors! I couldn’t wait for the day to have an alumnus on the Board, and I am so proud that Gary is the first one. He represents so much of the good within the Saint Martin family, and as a former student, will bring a historical perspective and the real life experience no other Board member has ever had. Gary realizes firsthand some of the challenges our students have, he lived it, and he knows how to address those challenges.

Gary is a trailblazer, but my hope is this is just the beginning. Now in our 15th year as a school community, it is time for the next generation to be involved with the Saint Martin movement and transform the lives of future Lions for decades to come. Our 843 alumni and their commitment to Saint Martin are the foundation of our school community. They want what is best for all who walk through our doors. Like me, our alums realize that the four years of high school are very formative years, and if we can help in our students’ success, there’s nothing better, it’s what it’s all about.

Sincerely,

Dominic Perry
Board Chair
Message from the Co-Principals

Fall is a wonderful time on campus as there is always a buzz in the halls of Saint Martin. It marks an important point in the cycle of the school year, when many new changes are occurring. The graduates of 2018 have started their journey towards graduating college, with an outstanding rate of 95% directly enrolling in college. Additionally, we have 135 freshmen beginning their journey towards high school graduation in 2022.

The sophomores are participating in a new initiative to volunteer at nearby organizations and the juniors started weekly college counseling meetings as college preparation intensifies. Teachers are busy planning innovative cross-curricular projects and the seniors have started their year-long capstone project. All 400 students are working at their corporate work study job sites with our over 120 incredible partners spread throughout Northeastern Ohio. This year, in addition to the college credit classes we offer, we added an entrepreneurial class and a coding class for seniors in partnership with the TEALS (Technology Education and Literacy in Schools) project. In fact, a little later, you will meet one of our graduates, Indira Samuels from the class of 2010, who is helping to teach the class before she goes to work as a programmer at KeyBank.

All of these academic milestones are essential as we prepare our students for college and professional success. We are very proud that our students graduate college at double the national average for students of modest economic means. We also take great pride in having over forty graduates working at our corporate work study partners. The staff has many new projects and programs in development to strengthen the student experience and support for our young men and women beyond high school. At Saint Martin de Porres, we are very proud of our student successes and we are truly grateful for the support from the Northeast Ohio community and our stakeholders.

Sincerely,

John Fay & Ryan Hurley

Summer Immersion

This past summer, several Saint Martin students used part of their break to learn about and get to know others from all over the globe.

EL SALVADOR

In early June, recent graduates Enrique Freeman '18 and Diamond Allen '18 joined the Saint Dominic Parish High School Youth Group on their annual immersion trip to El Salvador. Saint Dominic Parish (located in Shaker Heights) sends delegations to El Salvador five times each year (including the youth trip in June) to visit and build relationships with their sister parish and community of Santo Domingo church and school in the village of Chiltiupan. This year their pastor, Fr. Tom Fanta, graciously asked theology teacher Erin Conway, who also serves as the High School Youth Minister at Saint Dominic, to invite two Saint Martin students to join the trip.

The goal of the youth trip was to have the young people learn about the reality of life in El Salvador (including the history of the civil war) while also getting to know their Salvadoran brothers and sisters. Along with 10 other high school and college students, Diamond and Enrique participated in a variety of activities over the course of the five day trip — visiting two schools, making several home visits, taking a tour of the cooperative farm started in partnership with Saint Dominic, playing in a basketball game against the teenagers of Santo Domingo school, visiting the site of Oscar Romero’s assassination, and putting on a carnival for over 300 local elementary students.

Diamond reflected on her experience, “In that moment, I felt God’s presence thanking me for being there in that time and space. In that moment, I felt loved and appreciated because I almost didn’t go to El Salvador, but I’m glad that I did and blessed that I had this experience.”
Then in July, four students joined Vice President of Mission, Virginia Malloy, and headed west to the University of Notre Dame for “ND Vision,” thanks to the generosity of the Cleveland Notre Dame Club.

A week that starts with nervous anticipation quickly turns to unabashed excitement as the students settle in for their week in South Bend, IN. Demeshia Darmond ’19, Iliya Rosser ’19, Cali Good ’21, and Cherish McNeil ’21 arrived and anxiously walked onto the quad and met their small group leaders and students from other schools. During their time together, the students all listened to speakers – both professionals from all parts of the country and Notre Dame undergraduates who’ve prepared all year for the Vision weeks. Each student is moved and surprised and stretched. By the end of the week they have made new friends, and learned so much about themselves, others, and their faith.

The ND Vision experience has the same effect each time Mrs. Malloy has brought students. “They begin as strangers and as the week unfolds I see the magic of the process bring them all in as they read, share, sing, laugh, dance, and participate in meaningful experiences of prayer and reflection,” she said. “Inevitably, the end is complete with hugs and exchanges of numbers. The car ride home is much noisier than the ride to Notre Dame with their laughter and their excitement to share with family and friends at home.”
BEGINNING OUR 15TH YEAR

At Saint Martin, Lions is not only our nickname, it is the way our staff and students roar into each new school year!

The Class of 2022 arrived a week before their older classmates and were quickly acclimated to the “Saint Martin Way.” Welcome Week included many events to get our newest students ready for the academic challenges that lie ahead, and prepare them for their upcoming Corporate Work Study jobs. The freshman class participated in Speed Networking with many professionals throughout our region, community bonding to learn more about their new classmates, and activities designed to prepare our young men and women for the workforce.

The following week the upperclassmen arrived to an epic pep rally that was loud and proud, and concluded with one of Saint Martin’s great traditions, celebrating the Mass of the Holy Spirit. It is here that all new members of the Saint Martin community are commissioned as one of the family, receiving Saint Martin de Porres medals.
August continued with many more events to get the kids ready and excited for the 2018-19 school year. “Downtown Day” saw the Class of 2022 visit several professional work sites to learn about and be exposed to what they will experience at their jobs. The month concluded with one of Saint Martin’s most fun and exciting traditions, “Wonder Day,” a day where students have a chance to explore and experience new things throughout our region. Staff and students ventured out on a beautiful, sunny day to see the inner workings of Progressive Field, home of the Cleveland Indians; the Geauga County Fair; tours of media giants WKYC, WEWS and CBS Radio; be one with nature in several of our area’s most breathtaking parks, and so much more.

These activities prepared our students for a great start and a very successful 2018-19 school year.
FALL SPORTS RECAP

SOCCER:
Rebuilding from a strong senior class last year, our soccer team had seven new players join their team this year. The team made a commitment to grow in skill level knowing that their win-loss record may not show their growth in the season. The team was led by captains, Joseph Huber '19, Ruben Arteaga '19 & Jason Chavez '20. Of special note, Jason Chavez led the team in goals and was honored All-Conference in the Lake Effect Conference.

CROSS COUNTRY:
Led by a group of senior male runners who have run for the last four years, the cross country improved times each week this season. Junior Princesse Thompson was our fastest girl this season. Junior William Mikel recorded our fastest boys' time this season and placed highest for our guys in the Conference Championships. Our top seven male runners qualified to compete at Districts, including Shane Cummings '19, Bryant Greer '19, William Mikel '20, Elijah Respress '19, Isaiah Taylor '22, Matthew Taylor '20 & Emareion Trotter '19.

VOLLEYBALL:
JV & Varsity Volleyball had another successful year, although they graduated several seniors last year from the team. The team was led by captain and setter, Kamarri Hall '19. The Lady Lions finished out their regular season 16-6 with notable wins over Division I schools, Euclid High School & Cleveland Heights High. The Lions lost in the semi-finals of the Lake Effect Conference Tournament, placing third in the conference for the season.
The program arose from a desire to create accessible service opportunities for Saint Martin students. For a variety of reasons, including but not limited to a rigorous college curriculum and student availability because of work or other responsibilities, Saint Martin students were some of the few students attending a Catholic high school who were graduating without having completed a required minimum hours of service.

From this void, the sophomore service program was created.

On a practical level, this means that all 98 sophomore students load into vans each week and travel into the neighboring community to give time and build relationships accompanied by sophomore Theology teacher Erin Conway and current Jesuit Volunteer Ciara Costanzo. These sites include: Village Preparatory School (Cliffs Campus), United Cerebral Palsy, The Bishop Cosgrove Center, Eliza Bryant Village, the Cuyahoga County Board of Developmental Disabilities, and The Louis Stokes VA Medical Center. Each sophomore student will have the opportunity to volunteer at two or three different service sites throughout the course of the year and will finish the school year with 30 hours of community service to add to their resume or college application.

But the goal of the program goes beyond college applications and resumes. In conjunction with work in the Theology classroom, the goal of this service experience is to help students wrestle with essential questions like What is God’s dream for the world? What does a “just world” look like? and How can I contribute to the creation of a just world? Centered around the service experience and regular reflection of this experience, the program arose from a desire to create accessible, meaningful service opportunities for Saint Martin students. We hope that this cycle of action and reflection becomes a way of life for our students.
SHE KILLS MONSTERS

On October 25-27, Students performed She Kills Monsters for the Fall Play. She Kills Monsters tells the story of high schooler Agnes Evans as she deals with the death of her younger sister, Tilly, in a car accident. When Agnes stumbles upon Tilly’s Dungeons & Dragons notebook, she finds herself catapulted into a journey of discovery and action-packed adventure in the imaginary world that was her sister’s refuge. In this high-octane dramatic comedy laden with homicidal fairies, nasty ogres, and ’90s pop culture, acclaimed playwright Qui Nguyen offers a heart-pounding homage to the geek and warrior within us all.

STUDENT SENATE

Student Senate at Saint Martin is responsible for making decisions that impact students in and out of class. They help to setup all school dances, fundraisers, social functions, and our Spirit Shop, The Lion’s Den.

The students involved in the Senate are very dedicated and willing to contribute all their ideas to benefit the student body as a whole. While the officers cannot meet the needs of every single student, they try their hardest to do the best for everyone involved. Student Senate is at the forefront of decision making at Saint Martin, and the students involved take pride in having that responsibility.

On October 19, Shameka was ordained as Reverend of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Jones Taylor comes to Saint Martin after nearly 21 years working for the City of Cleveland, most recently as the Chief Financial Officer for Cleveland City Council. For the last eight years in this role, she also directly supervised over 20 Saint Martin students, always “challenging and loving” them as they navigated high school and the Corporate Work Study Program.

She has a history of helping her students develop into mature and professional individuals which helps contribute to their continued success upon graduation from Saint Martin. One alum, Kayla Morales ’18, who worked at City Council all four years said, “Mrs. Shameka has had a huge impact on me because she let me express myself and showed me how to speak to people. She taught me new things every year.”

“I am excited to be joining a team of outstanding and passionate people who are committed to positively impacting the lives of our young adults,” said Mrs. Jones Taylor. “Joining the Saint Martin community will give me the opportunity to turn my passions of working for, loving, and developing youth into my full time job! I am looking forward to advancing the mission of Saint Martin through the training and placing our young adults into organizational environments to advance them practically and better prepare them for the workforce. This is a challenge that I find most exhilarating.”

Mrs. Jones Taylor is a Cleveland native who attended Shaw High School and holds a BA and MBA from Baldwin Wallace College, as well as her Master of Divinity from Payne Theological Seminary. She and her husband, Lennon, live in Highland Heights and have one daughter and two grandchildren.

“We couldn’t be more excited to have Shameka join our community in such a valuable role,” said President Chaz Napoli. “With her vast experience of working with business professionals in this region, she is the perfect person to continue building relationships with current partners while acquiring new partners to the Program. We feel that we have positioned Saint Martin’s work study program for many decades of future success.”

WELCOME OUR NEW VICE PRESIDENT OF CORPORATE WORK STUDY PROGRAM
Shameka Jones Taylor

On October 1, the entire Saint Martin community was thrilled to welcome our new Vice President of the Corporate Work Study Program, Shameka Jones Taylor.
Charles “Chaz” Napoli has had a passion for secondary education ever since he was a student at Saint Ignatius High School. His four years on Cleveland’s west side made a lasting impression and set the entire direction for his life. After graduating Summa Cum Laude from Notre Dame, Chaz went on to a highly successful business career, mainly as a C-level technology executive driving corporate growth and performance. However, there was always something pulling at him, a desire to make a difference in the lives of youth in Cleveland. “My wife, Jean, and I have always had a passion for education for our own family, and we put a lot of value on learning to create opportunities and choices,” Chaz said. “So the chance to lead Saint Martin, a school that could utilize my business skills and fulfill my passion, is a dream becoming a reality.”

Chaz began his tenure as only the second President in school history on June 18, succeeding Founding President, Rich Clark, and the reception from the entire Saint Martin community has been fantastic. “The whole team, from Rich and the Board of Trustees, to the staff and faculty, created a smooth transition for me, and made me feel like I’ve been part of the team since the beginning,” Chaz said. “It’s not easy to follow a founder, especially someone like Rich. Everything that is here is because of his passion, energy, time, and commitment to such a great mission. It could have been a bit intimidating, but it’s been the exact opposite of that and I couldn’t be more grateful to everyone.”

In his first 90 days on the job, Chaz worked tirelessly with those around him to identify the priorities for Saint Martin... in his first school year. He and his leadership team have narrowed those priorities down to three.

1. Make significant improvements to an already great academic program. This will be achieved by implementing a high performance faculty team concept and invoking a whole new suite of math curriculum called “Eureka Math,” giving the faculty structure and flexibility to take math and science classes to another level.

2. Work with other business leaders in Northeast Ohio and leveraging a recent Work Study Grant to help us get our students the best real world experience within the professional workforce. Hiring Shameka Jones Taylor as Vice President of our Corporate Work Study Program, who as a supervisor with city council worked with over 20 of our students, will bring a unique perspective and help convey a strong message to the business community.

3. Enhance our support services. We look at our community in a holistic way, rooted in the Jesuit philosophy of the whole person. We want to expand our hugely successful wraparound services and take them to the next level.

“With the quality of faculty and staff we have here and the support of the entire Saint Martin community, I am fully confident we will successfully achieve these priorities during the 2018-19 school year,” said Chaz. Recently, priority 2 was helped in a transformative way through the generosity of an anonymous donor with a 4-year, $1.320M grant to assist with the evolution of the school’s work study model. Through this philanthropy, Saint Martin will be able to provide the training necessary to meet today’s work requirements and benefit all of our incredible organizational partners. Chaz added, “The grant is a gamechanger for us. It will be used to greatly expand our training on learning the hard and soft skills necessary to be successful in a professional environment, particularly for our first year students. We will also invest in programming for our partner supervisor community so we can bring a lot more support to our supervisors in understanding what types of skills our students are able to provide so they have an easier time matching their office needs to what our young men and women are capable of doing.”

Along with his current strategic priorities, Chaz already has a vision of what he wants Saint Martin to look like in the coming years. “Finishing phase 2 of the new school has quickly become a passion of mine so we have everyone working together in one space. I didn’t think it would be, but after seeing how the upperclassmen benefit from a project based, open and collaborative environment in a 21st century facility, I would like to have all the classes in one state-of-the-art building.”

Chaz and his wife, Jean, have been blessed with five children of their own, ranging from their mid-teens to their mid-20s. They all love to spend their time together outdoors playing tennis, golfing, skiing, biking and hiking in what Chaz refers to as a “jewel in the Cleveland area,” the Metroparks. Growing up, his mom raised all five of her kids and couldn’t afford a private school education, but other family members invested in Chaz. He always felt so blessed by the generosity of others that he made sure he took advantage of that investment. At Saint Martin, he now has the opportunity to pay it back for the others in his life who paid it forward.

“I love everything about Saint Martin. The students, faculty, and staff have quickly become a second family to me,” he said. “I am so blessed to be handed such a well run school that only continues to evolve and get better each day. My hope and dream is that Saint Martin becomes a destination location for the rapidly growing Cristo Rey Network, where if you really want to see what Cristo Rey is at its best from top to bottom, Saint Martin is that model.”
OHIO CATHOLIC FEDERAL CREDIT UNION HONOR

The school year began with a wonderful honor as Ohio Catholic Federal Credit Union presented Saint Martin with a $10,000 grant for our commitment to Catholic education and our region. Dean Robinson, OCFCU Catholic Outreach Coordinator, announced the great news at the end of the Mass of the Holy Spirit. Saint Martin was one of only two schools to receive OCFCU’s top grant.

UNION HOME FOUNDATION GALA

The Union Home Foundation honored Saint Martin with $25,000 as one of their philanthropic partners for their Gala event on October 5. Saint Martin was selected as one of the event’s nonprofit partners alongside Volunteers of America, Junior Achievement, and Towards Employment. These organizations were selected because our work addresses a core pillar of Union Home Foundation’s mission, which includes financial literacy, education, career readiness, and transitional resources.

Giving Tuesday

To celebrate the great community of Catholics in Northeast Ohio, the Catholic Community Foundation is hosting its third annual #WeGiveCatholic campaign on Tuesday, November 27, 2018, also known as “Giving Tuesday.”

Saint Martin is thrilled to take part in this exciting campaign again this year! Consider making a donation on that day by going to www.wegivecatholic.org, searching for “Saint Martin de Porres High School,” and clicking “Donate.”

Those are the words of 2010 Saint Martin graduate Indira Samuels, a Software Developer In Test at KeyBank, and now a TEALS Volunteer for Computer Science at her alma mater. TEALS (Technology Education And Literacy in School) is an organization that helps schools offer different courses in computer programming. Under that umbrella, Saint Martin now offers AP Computer Science A (Java programming) as a brand new elective for seniors where students learn about Java language and will take the AP Java exam at the end of the class to earn college credit. The small fee for the class was made possible through a grant from the Cleveland Foundation, because they recognize that in order to keep the talent base high in Cleveland, we have to invest in technology like this.

“‘There is a good market for programmers, especially in Cleveland,’ said Indira. ‘A lot of programming jobs don’t get filled in Cleveland because a lot of programmers leave for bigger cities, but if people knew that programming is in such demand, and starting salaries are higher if you can program, then more people would take that in college as a major or minor.’

It has been a thrill for Indira to return to Saint Martin and bring her expertise home to teach students who remind Indira of herself and her classmates when she was a Lion. “It’s been a really good experience coming back to Saint Martin,” said Indira with a smile. “The sense of community Saint Martin builds, it feels like I’ve been here the whole time and never left.”

Saint Martin Computer Science and Chemistry teacher Brittany Kirby teaches alongside of Indira and sees the admiration the students have for her. “The kids love Indira!” Mrs. Kirby said. “I have most of those kids in my study hall and it’s amazing to hear the kids talk about her. I couldn’t be successful in the classroom without her there.”
College Mentoring Program

This year, Saint Martin launched a college mentoring program, recruiting 105 mentors in just 50 days! The advisers included 45 alums, 30 Corporate Work Study supervisors, and another 30 friends of Saint Martin that featured staff, board of trustees and school committee members.

The entire Class of 2018 was matched with a caring, committed college graduate to help young alumni navigate the complexities of the college experience with the intent to increase graduation. “With the help of our college mentors,” said Dr. Tudico, “we will increase our college graduation rates over the next 5 years, and establish Saint Martin’s as a local leader among local high schools in supporting our alumni throughout their college experience.”

Using a simple-to-use online platform, mentors and students are given monthly conversation prompts to help spark timely and relevant guidance to help the Class of 2018 reach their personal and professional goals, starting with graduating from college. Mentors are committed to investing 1 hour per month, or 2 minutes per day, communicating with their mentee via text, email, phone, video chat, or in-person for the 12 months following high school graduation.

The mentoring program was made possible through the support of the Sisters of Charity Foundation of Cleveland, through The Innovation Mission program.

Saint Martin is now recruiting mentors to be matched this fall with their Class of 2019, so whether you’re looking to “pay it back” or “pay it forward”, this is a great opportunity to make a big difference. If you are interested in learning more about the mentoring program, please contact Dr. Chris Tudico at 216-756-2801 or ctudico@stmdphs.org.

I love St. Martin because it feels like family... there is always a helping hand.

– Kevyn Chavez ’20
I love Saint Martin because they gave me a family that I never had. They provide me with everything I need and are always there for me. You can talk to the teachers about almost anything. They keep on you track and make sure you’re doing okay. They are a community of caring and loving people that never give up on you!
